Student Letter

My name is Sara, I'm 14 years old at the moment, I'm from Spain and I'm looking forward to be part of your life for a year. I can tell you about myself that I'm shy at the beginning but very talkative once I get to know you. I consider myself smart, responsible, respectful, and very sensitive.

I want to go to the United States because of some reasons; I want to know more people and create a bond with my host family, I'd like to learn about American customs, educational system and diet, and of course I want to improve my English. I have never been to the US before so I'm looking forward to know the area where I'm about to live for a year. I'm not expecting to do tourism in the great cities; I'd rather live in a rural or suburban area. I want a calm year knowing a different style of life, practicing sport and trying new things. I know I'll miss my family, but I assume that's part of the experience. I also know I'll do well in the US and make the most of this unique adventure.

So if you are a peaceful family looking for a Spanish student to be with your children, to learn about other countries, or simply to give you company, and you're willing to spend time with me and talk to me so that I learn, don't hesitate to host me :-). I'll do my best to adapt myself to your routine, schedule and lifestyle; I'll respect your rules and will try to provide happiness to your family. I'll also share my own customs and habits, tell you about Spain if you want and help as much as I can.
