Student Letter

I am the youngest member of my family, with an older brother and sister. Concerning the activities we enjoy together, we like shopping. In addition, we get along really good. We survived as a strong family by sharing responsibilities at home. For example, my father has a strict rule, which is: clean your own mess. If I eat in a dish, I am washing it, same rule on my clothes. I am incredibly interested in psychology, therefore one day I want to be able to read people and learn about their body language. I also want to pursue a career in basketball and hopefully find a great chance in the US. That's what I keep telling my best friends, that one should always dream big. We play basketball together, hangout, talk and support each other. Growing up watching all the greats in this world, I, as a younger kid, decided to be one of them and definitely be remembered for what I change in this earth.

Most important thing about me, is that I am ambitious. I can't take no for an answer. Which is really good in my opinion, because hard work always pays off. Due to my beliefs, look at me now writing this letter to my host family. My brother believed I could do it and that's all it takes: One person to believe and you all will see what I'm capable of. I hope I meet new people, awesome ones, thanks to my exchange student experience. I'm always optimistic so I think I will find a chance that'll help me through my basketball career one day.
