Student Letter

My name is Valentina, I am a seventeen years old girl who lives in a small city in north Italy. My character is an oxymoron: I'm reserved but also outgoing, I like staying alone but also staying with friends, I'm lazy but also active! I'm very responsible and everybody can count on me. I'm impulsive but not superficial, and maybe that's the thing i like the most, cause I'm very spontaneous and genuine with everyone! I'm very determined and ambitious , so I never give up: that's why I never had doubt about this experience. I'm quiet and serious , but also friendly and talkative, and I'm really calm and polite. I've been doing judo for 5 years, but now I've left to do powerlifting. In America I really would like to try cheerleading, and if possible i would like to continue with weightlifting. I think I am different from others in my creativity, because I have colored hair, a nose piercing and some tattoos. I actually love art, I love writing, I love to capture moments through a photo, I love to see landscapes and stay to meditate, I love being in stillness of silence and hearing only my thoughts . Last but not least, I love travelling and discovering new places and realities that are totally different from the ones I'm in everyday. I like changing habits and getting used to other cultures so that I can have new experiences and meet new people. I think there is always something to learn from the others, so, after this trip, I know I will be very richer thanks to you!
