Student Letter

My name is Maren, I am 17, and I am from Spain. I am a quiet and calm person in general, although sometimes I like to live new experiences. I like to enjoy things to the fullest.

If I look at the future, the truth is that I haven't decided anything yet, I have several ideas in my head but none of them convince me completely. I would like to study something related to society where I have to socialize and work with people, since I consider that I am good at talking to strangers and I like it because you can always learn something new.

The main reason why I have decided to go to the United States next year is because I feel that in the teenage years, I should learn and experience new things because I will never be young again. I chose the United States because I think the culture is quite different and that would give me a richer perspective of the world and I would like to experience another culture. Also, the American education system is one of the best there is, and I also want the best for my grades. Another very important reason why I have selected the United States is because of the importance given to sports in school. I love playing soccer, so it really excites me a lot, and it is something I really want to try.
